"There are four reasons why Gotham is my first choice when it comes to staffing for technology/technical jobs:
- Gotham treats its clients with the utmost respect, professionalism and integrity.
- What they say is what they mean; they are straight talkers with both their clients and the candidates.
- Gotham listens carefully to the needs of the client, its primary goal is to find the very best candidate for the job, not to make a fee!
- Gotham represents our brand well. Candidates praise the quality with which they are handled by Gotham. That reflects on my company as well as theirs."

Client Profile

A multi-strategy hedge fund working in Fixed Income, Equities, Derivatives (Credit and Interest Rate), and Commodities with multiple international offices and four billion dollars in assets under management.
Solution Area: Application development team staffing

Business Situation

As a new company, there was an instant backlog of projects for IT. The CTO needed to work directly with the staffing team to build an application development team from scratch.

Solution

In the first quarter, Gotham placed two consultant front office developers and two permanent back office developers. Over the next two years, Gotham built the team to 16 including multiple front and back office developers with .NET/Java/C++ environment skillsets, Advent Geneva professionals, technical leads, and support personnel.
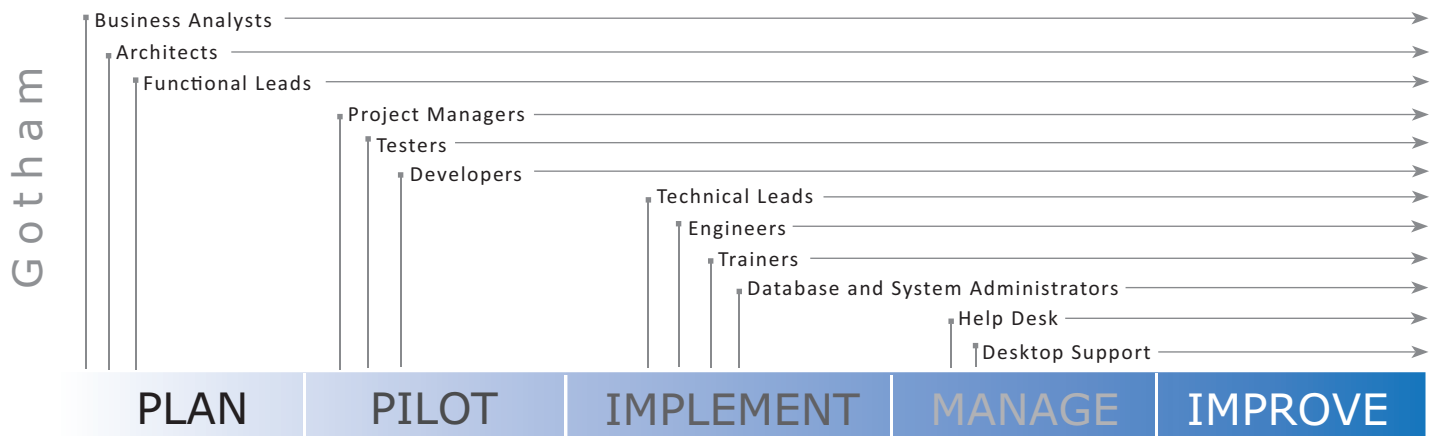

Key Technologies: Placement of technology experts at all levels and phases of development lifecycle.

Key Benefits

- Because the company was working exclusively with Gotham Technology Group, our Staffing Division was able to fully assess the firm's position with every addition
- Strategic placement of individuals built on the weak areas of the team and cultivated the strengths
- A culture of complementary skills and personalities formed a highly productive team
