

AI Governance Health Check

Complimentary | Findings report you can act on

It's the 'not knowing what you don't know' lack of visibility into your AI program that puts your business most at risk.

AI is already in your organization. The question is whether you have any visibility into it. AI tools are being adopted faster than most governance programs can track, and "we'll figure it out later" doesn't hold up when a customer asks, a regulator looks, or sensitive data ends up somewhere it shouldn't be. You don't need a full assessment yet. You need a starting point.

1

Two 45-minute working sessions. We talk through how AI is showing up across your business, what governance you have today, and where the obvious gaps are.

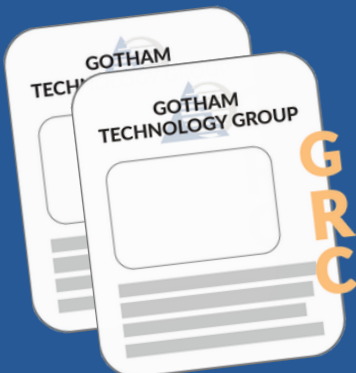

2

Documentation review. We look at what exists today — policies, standards, any AI inventory, third-party AI tools — to see what's real and what's missing.

3

Findings report. The good, the bad, and the empty — what you have, what you don't, and where to focus next.

Get a real picture of where you stand.
No tools to buy. No commitment.

AI is moving through your organization right now. Most teams don't know what's in use, who's using it, or what risk is quietly building up.

The Health Check gets you a clear starting point — fast, complimentary, and built around what actually matters to your business.
